The Second Volume of "Families in the Bible" Printed

After the release of the first volume of "Families in the Bible," it received much love and enthusiastic demand from people. In response to the support from churches and brothers and sisters, Kairos has published the second volume of "Families in the Bible." This book is another masterpiece that integrates the stories of 15 families from the Old Testament and 15 families from the New Testament, which were originally featured in the video series "Families in the Bible."

The Families in the Bible" (Volume 2) has been successfully printed, and we are looking forward to providing churches, fellowships, and small groups with a year's worth of biblical character study materials through both volumes of "The Families in the Bible." Please also pray for the smooth delivery of the book.

In addition to the newly published second volume of "Families in the Bible," Kairos has also reprinted the first volume. The aim is to continue providing resources for church fellowships and small group gatherings, making faith more tangible and enhancing the interaction among family members.

Combines Traditional Chinese Culture with Christian Faith

The recording of "Exploring Chinese Characters" (Mandarin), a program that combines traditional Chinese culture with Christian faith, began in May. Additionally, the "Exposition on the Book of Romans" (Mandarin), consisting of 14 episodes, is eagerly anticipated and we hope to present it to everyone soon. We are also planning a series called "The Better Covenant" based on the Book of Hebrews (36 episodes). Please pray for the production and broadcasting of these new programs!

Striving for Racial Equality, Social Justice, and Building a Community of Love

Kairos will collaborate with the Church of Our Saviour, an Episcopal church serving the San Gabriel Valley in the United States to film and produce a series of 8 videos called "Striving for Racial Equality, Social Justice, and Building a Community of Love". The preparatory work for this project has been completed, and it will soon enter the actual filming and production phase. Please pray for this collaborative project.
